

The Ultimate Writer's Block

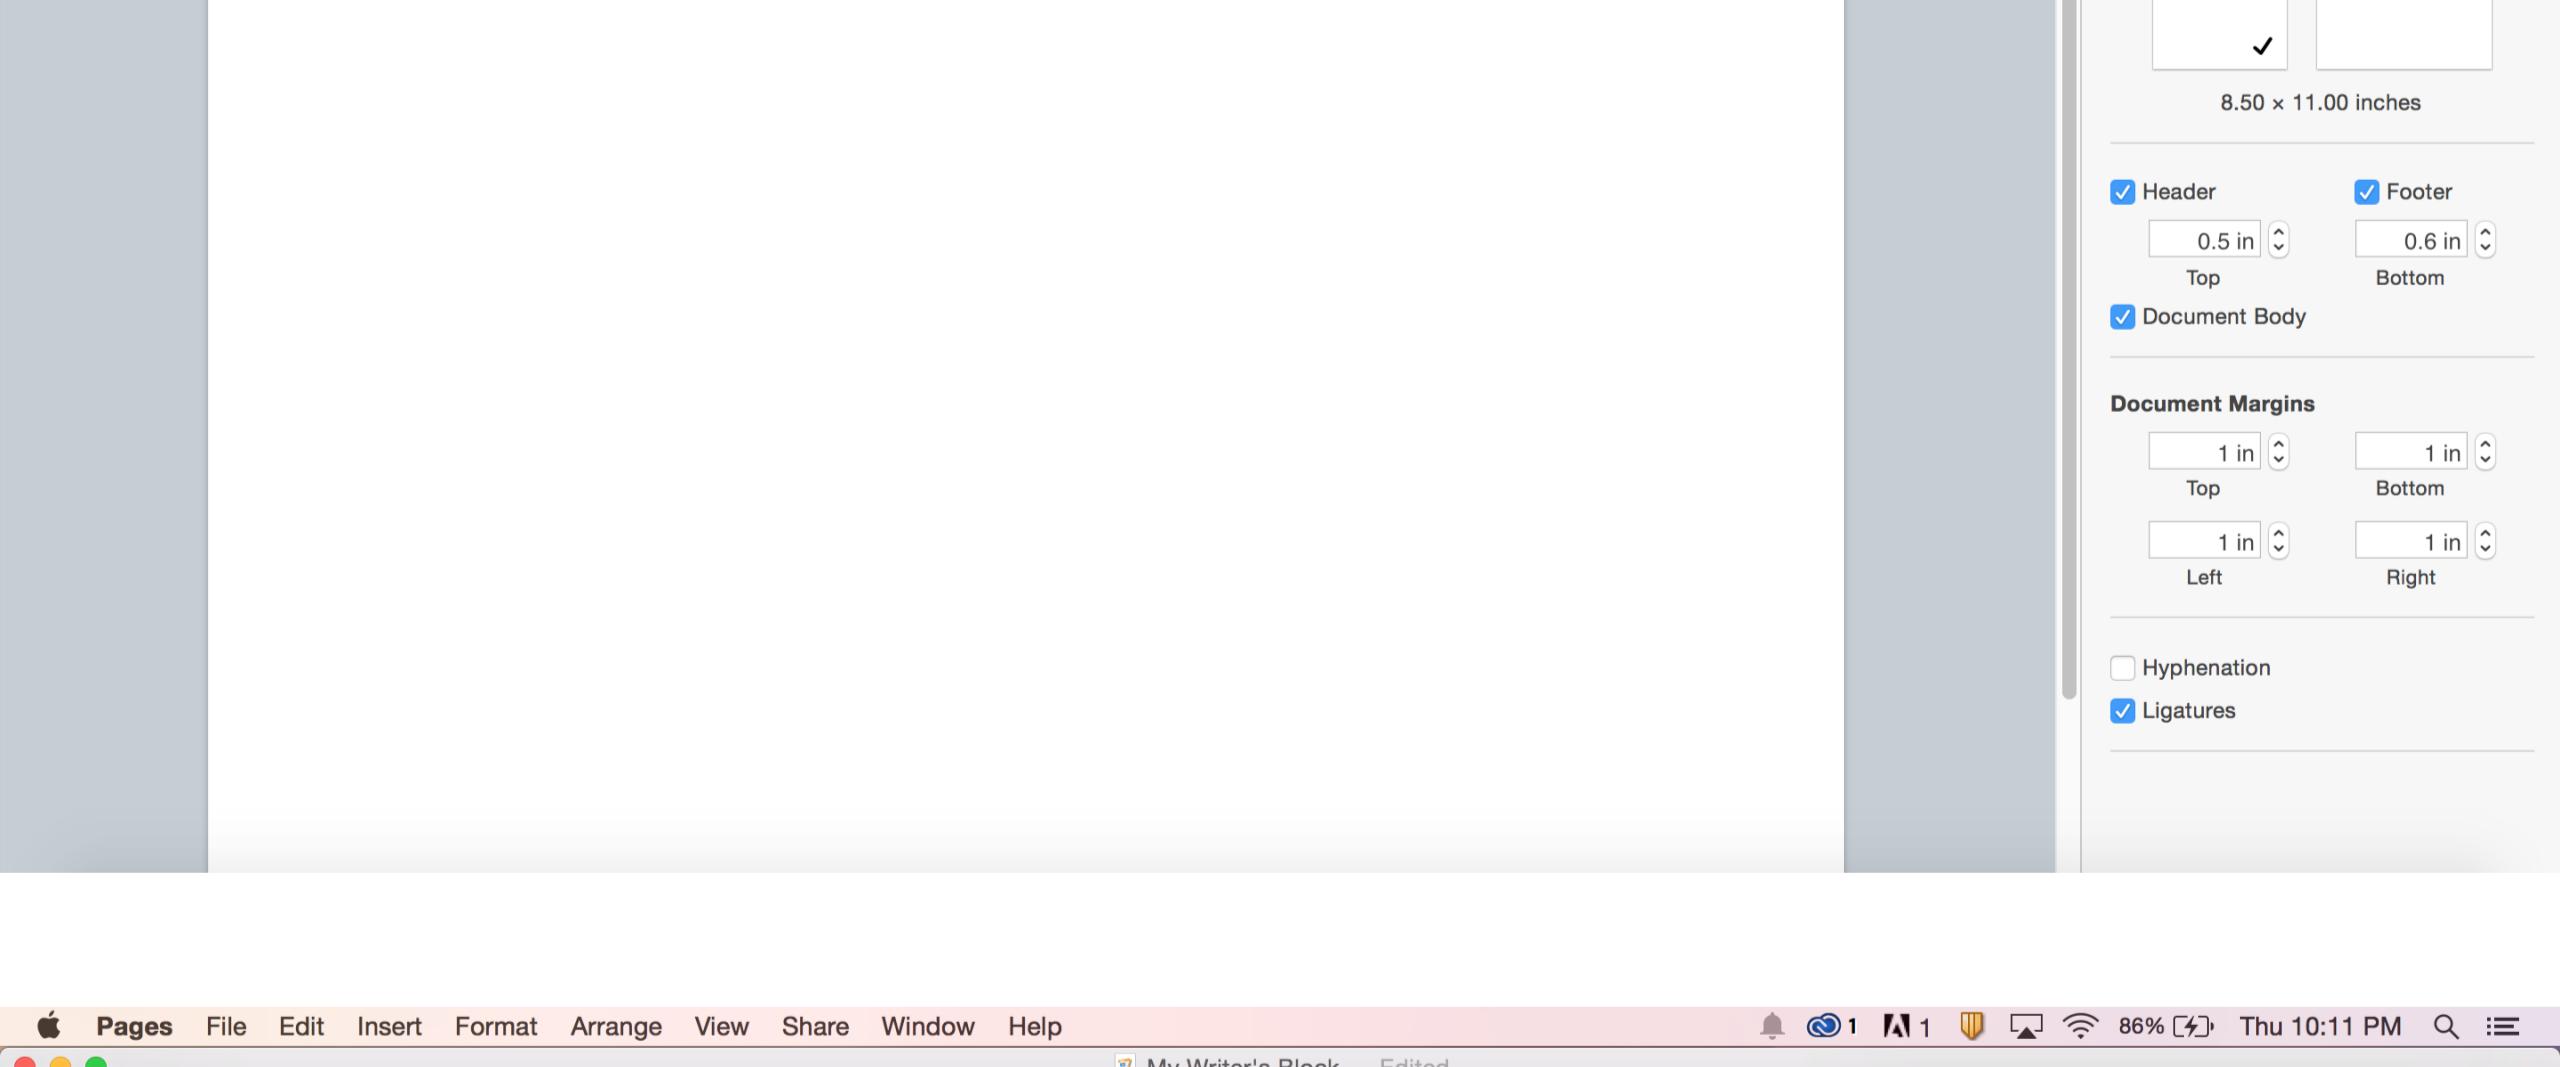

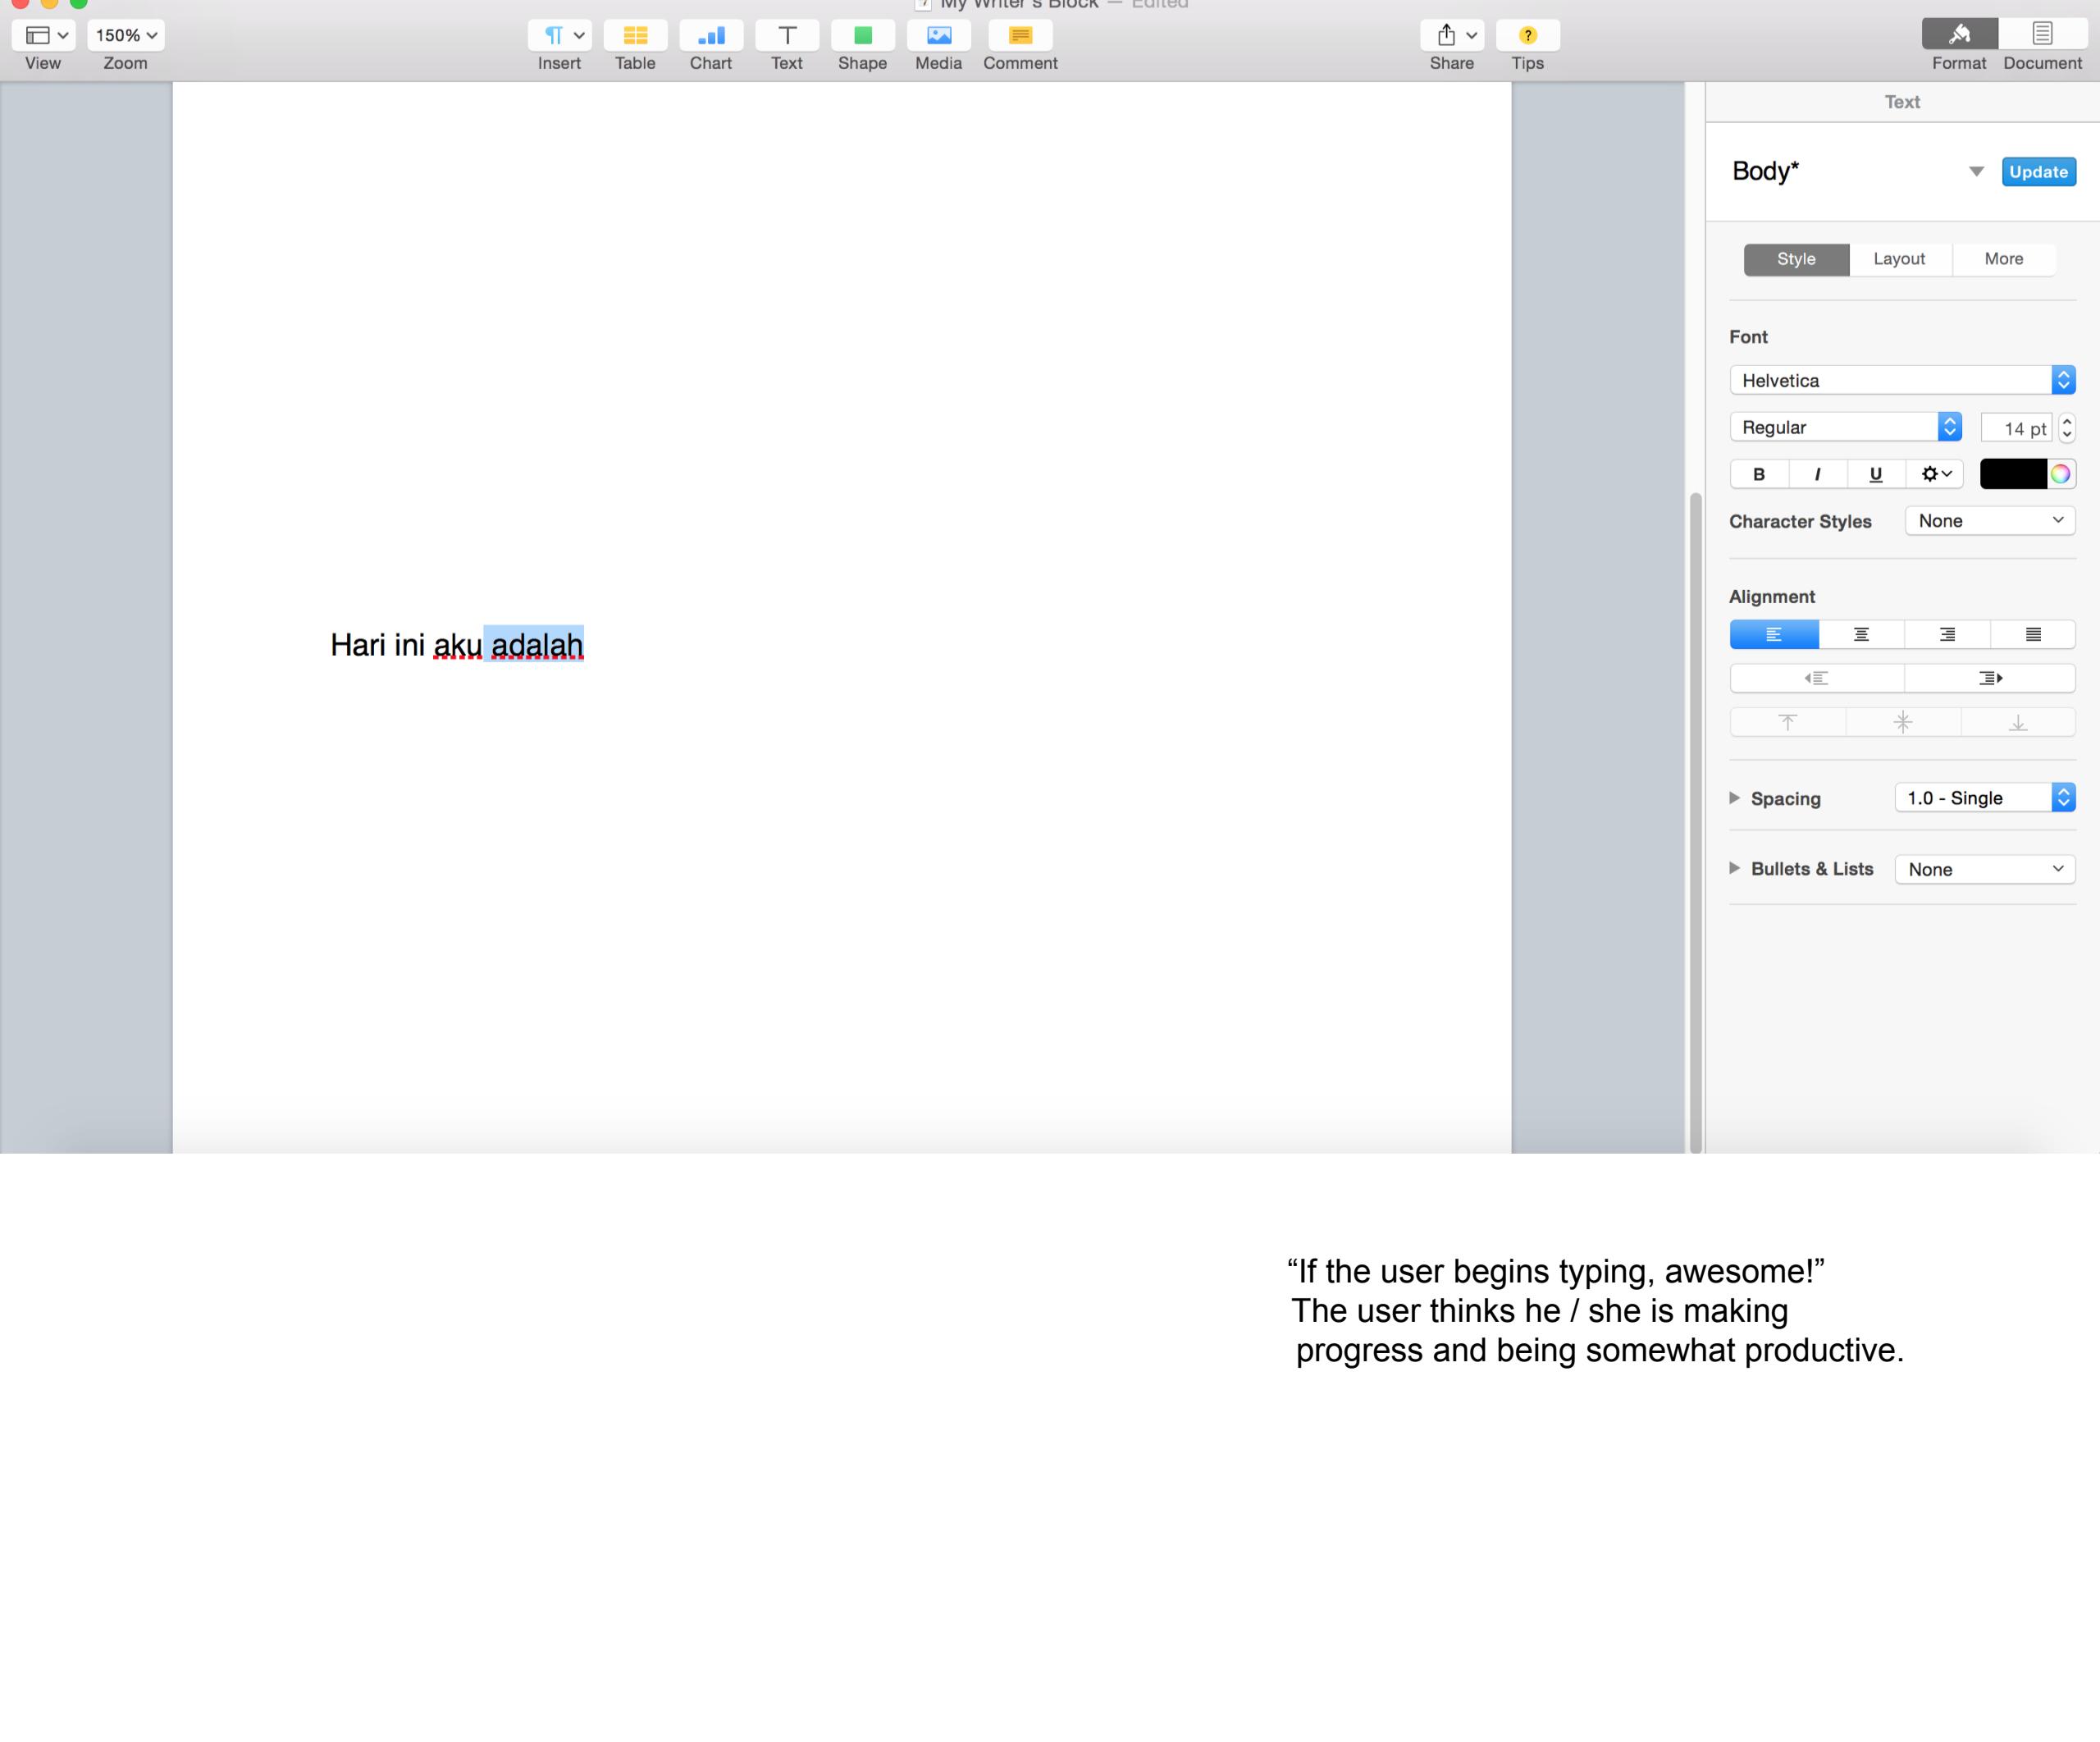

"Hey, we get distracted too!"
The user may be distracted by other active tools on the site including the display size of the document.

Hello, I don't know what to write about|

Hari ini aku adalah

"If the user begins typing, awesome!"
The user thinks he / she is making progress and being somewhat productive.

Hari ini aku ~~adalah~~

Hari ini aku ~~adalah orang utan yang naik pohon~~

Hari ini aku ~~adalah orang utan yang naik pohon~~

There are other "distractions" or active tools available including resizing texts. Activated distractions become blue highlights.

Hari ini aku ~~adalah orang utan yang naik pohon~~

However, users will realize that they have the ultimate writer's block because they literally can't produce anymore. Literally!

The website will only allow a maximum of 50 characters.

Intention:

A primary function of the kitchen countertop is to clean dishes, utensils or the area. Sometimes, we come to this space with frustration, perhaps avoiding a situation. We release stress through cleaning, thinking of the time we will spend cleaning as a productive break. Some may think it's therapeutic and productive, until they realize they are not actually getting things done and look, 30 minutes has passed!

We become paranoid! The cleaning never really ends! More stress, more anxiety. There's so much to do, so little time!

Hari ini aku ~~adalah orang utan yang naik pohon~~

When minimized, the blinking cursor is still the focus. There are also horizontal and vertical scroll options.